

Meeting the Challenge of Safety Training for Diverse Audiences Using Varied Laser Systems

At an academic research facility, lasers are used in many applications by users with varying backgrounds. This presentation will discuss the difficulties in providing training to a diverse laser operator group and Northwestern's solution to the problem.