

Blister formation at subcritical doses in Tungsten irradiated by MeV protons

Monday, 4 June 2018 16:50 (20 minutes)

Tungsten response to MeV protons irradiation has been studied experimentally, in particular with respect to bubbles and blister formation. Large, well-developed blisters are observed at 10^{17} protons/cm², below the reported critical dose from keV irradiations.

Primary author: Mrs GAVISH SEGEV, Inbal (Soreq NRC)

Co-author: Dr SILVERMAN, Ido (Soreq)

Presenter: Mrs GAVISH SEGEV, Inbal (Soreq NRC)

Session Classification: Session 2-Radiation Damage in Target Material and Related Simulations

Track Classification: 2-Radiation Damage in Target Material and Related Simulations