

Discussion questions:

1. "What are the prospects at the energy frontier for discovering or constraining models that explain the flavor anomalies?"
2. "What are the most urgent needs for theory input on form factors? Where are significant improvements expected on the theory side in the near future?"
3. "What are the prospects for improving theory uncertainty on long-distance contributions? Are there important experimental handles that should be explored further?"