TWE: Porting your code to the Grid

Wednesday, 10 August 2011 11:20 (1h 30m)

Talk-With-the-Experts: Porting your code to the Grid

This session closing the users and campus grids track is an open, loosely structured interactive session where OSG experts are available to guide and support users (scientists and system administrators) by answering questions or providing one-on-one coaching.

Among the others it will cover questions about running your workflow on OSG campus or production grids and the installation, optimization and troubleshooting of campus grids.

A similar session is closing the system administrators track. Attendees are encouraged to move between one and the other room to meet with the different experts.

To help our planning, submit your questions in advance by sending an email to OSG2011@highenergy.phys.ttu.edu

In the afternoon some experts will continue to be available for further support in a breakout session parallel to the CMS Tier 3 workshop.
