

CompF

White paper writing: going well! Many made the deadline, although many are still coming (with notifications given to (topical group) conveners)

(30 papers officially on the website, but would not be surprised if it doubles over the next 2 weeks)

WP submissions: relatively smooth, although some last-minute scrambling because of arXiv category endorsement

Ukraine: we are not aware of any direct effect on white papers, although we are sure there has been indirect effects

Next steps: topical group conveners are starting to synthesize submissions. Most of them already have an annotated outline since they anticipated most white papers (we asked for titles and abstract in advance of the deadline)