

Database update

- A meeting was scheduled on July 27 with Bologna and Ferrara to adjust some parameters of the IV noise test table. At this moment all our tables are ready and approved.
- Regarding including the HPK room temperature information in the database, two proposals emerged:
  - *The first option is to add a new table that allows you to compare the experimental data with the data sheet, but this implies having repeated data and creating a new table only for room T.
  - *The second option is to attach the datasheet table as a PDF in the manifest table. At the moment it is the best option to store this information and compare it with the test data.
