SCPMT process

- The overarching goal is to operate more efficiently and effectively
- Provide a forum for the various FNAL scientific projects and programs to present their scientific computing needs and requirements and for the SCPMT to evaluate and prioritize these needs.
- The SCPMT goal is to ensure that computing resources are allocated in a manner that maximizes benefit to the Fermilab scientific community.
  - guide decisions regarding the allocation of human resources and funds to purchase computing materials and services.
- The SC-PMT plays an important role in reviewing scientific computing investment plans and making appropriate recommendations.
